LIBRARY

REPORT OF ANDREW KEOGH, Librarian.

To the President and Fellows of Yale University:

GENTLEMEN:

I HAVE the honor to report on the work of the Library for the academic year 1932-1933.

THE BUILDING

DURING the year a mural decoration by Professor Eugene F. Savage, B.F.A. 1924, was placed over the delivery desk, and pictures of it, with explanatory text, appeared in the Library Gazette and elsewhere. Provision was made for the proper and safe storage of the Library's growing collection of films; and improvements were made in the ventilation of some of the rooms, and in the methods of cleaning the books and the stacks.

The number of visitors to the Library has been unexpectedly large, amounting on occasion to as many as 2,000 a day, and an attempt has been made to provide intelligent and stimulating guide service for them. This year the Library housed the registration and information desks for alumni attending the Commencement exercises, a partial return to an earlier practice when the Secretary of the University was also an Assistant Librarian.

It has been thought worth while to record the number of persons entering the building during a year, and the figures are so interesting that they are here printed:

|---------------------------|--------|--------------------|---------|
| July | 26,551 | January | 41,537 |
| August | 18,148 | February | 42,924 |

| December | 37,363 | June | 17,795 |
| Total | | | 433,331 |
| Monthly average | | | 36,111 |
| Daily average | | | 1,274 |

FINANCE

THE general economic situation of the country affected the Library in common with other parts of the University. The yield on library endowments and the appropriations from the general funds of the University were reduced, and the stream of gifts to income greatly lessened. As a consequence less money was spent for books; the purchase of duplicates for the reading period was postponed; and new projects in the cataloguing and kindred divisions were deferred. The budget was studied with the greatest care by the heads of staff, the Library Committee, and the Comptroller, and by reassignment of personnel and by new grouping of duties an effort was made to maintain the service. The library staff and the Library Committee were greatly pleased with the references to the Library in the last annual report of the Treasurer of the University, and the Committee sent him a special vote of thanks for his constant interest.

GIFTS

ON the anniversary of President Hadley's birth, Mrs. Arthur Twining Hadley gave $1,000 to be added to the Hadley Memorial Fund.

Miss Anne Perrin Galpin gave a manuscript volume of Delta Kappa Records from February, 1851, to April, 1855, that she had found at Pelham Manor; an account of the volume was written by her father, Perrin C. Galpin, B.A. 1910, and published in the Library Gazette for April. Mr. George E. Vincent, B.A. 1885, gave two autograph letters of Horace Walpole. Mr. Howard Eric gave an autograph letter of George Meredith to the Altschul Collection. Mr. Donald S. Tuttle, Ph.B. 1912, gave an autograph letter of Governor Trumbull. Mr. James T. Babb, B.A. 1925, was the donor of the original manuscript of Elizabeth Stuart Phelps Ward's Burglars in Paradise, and a manuscript poem by William Gilmore Simms. Professor Bakewell gave a large number of letters and manuscripts of Thomas Davidson, the philosopher.

Mr. Francis P. Garvan, B.A. 1897, added a hundred volumes to his collection of books on sport, and gave a "library of arms" of about 500 volumes. Professor Lang sent a number of Spanish and Portuguese books and pamphlets, as well as letters and other memorabilia for the Yale Collection. Mr. Francis H. Bangs, B.A. 1915, practically completed the set of the writings of his father, John Kendrick Bangs, in the Yale Collection of American Literature. The Vicar, Churchwardens, and Parochial Church Council of St. Stephen Coleman Street, London, sent two Prayer Books that had been used in that church; an account of the gift, and of the connection of John Davenport with the parish, will appear shortly in the Library Gazette.

Mr. Lucius Beebe, of the Class of 1926, gave the privately printed Three Poems, by Edwin Arlington Robinson. Mr. Wilmarth S. Lewis, B.A. 1918, gave five volumes of drawings by Charles Dana Gibson, signed by the artist. Mr. William H. McCarthy, Jr., a former member of the library staff, gave his collection of Emily Dickinson's works, numbering forty-two volumes and pamphlets.

From the Estate of Mrs. Thomas Dwight Goodell we received nearly 400 volumes. From the Estate of Edward Bement, B.A. 1870, came some 600 beautifully bound volumes, mostly in nineteenth century French literature and history; to this bequest Mr. Allen W. Evarts, B.A. 1869, and Mr. Courtlandt D. Barnes, B.A. 1902, added 200 volumes bequeathed to them by Mr. Bement. The Yale University Press gave 1,000 volumes for exchange.

Mr. Wilmarth S. Lewis gave seven handsomely colored early maps as a decoration for the staff tea room; and the Reverend William H. Owen, B.A. 1897, gave for use there a silver tea set and candlesticks long in the possession of his family.

THE ACCESSIONS DIVISION

MR. CANNON, chief of the Division, reports: Despite the reduction in the Library's budget for the purchase of books during the fiscal year 1932-33, the favorable rates of European exchange were such that there was no reduction in the number of books purchased. On the contrary, there was a sharp increase, 24,676 volumes having been received as compared with 18,448 in the previous year. Gifts during the past year numbered 32,993 as compared with 28,213 in the year 1931-32. Exchanges alone showed a decrease due to the discontinuance or suspension of many foreign serials, or the inability of their publishers to send copies without an immediate monetary return. The total number of volumes and pamphlets received from this source was 10,923, as compared with 12,057 in the preceding twelve months.

The purchase of several important collections included the following: 274 books and pamphlets relating to Molière, which added materially to the Library's holdings in this field, as several items were either rare or out of print, and a few apparently were little known elsewhere; the Fowler collection of books dealing with Napoleon and his period, 301 volumes; some extremely rare and important English seventeenth century newspapers, among which were seven numbers of the Mercurius Aulicus, sixteen of the Mercurius Bellicus, twenty-six of the Moderate Intelligencer, forty-nine of The Moderate, sixty of the Perfect Diurnall, and ninety-nine of the Mercurius Pragmaticus; a collection of books and other material relating to Heine formed by Dr. Fritz Lowenstein; rare and important old maps of both Europe and America; important sets of diplomatic documents from the Woolsey bequest; additions to the Betts Collection of Yale Poetry and other Yale Memorabilia.

A number of important periodical sets were likewise purchased, including: The Accountant, London, 65 volumes; Acta Oto-Laryngologica, 17 volumes; Archiv für die Geschichte Liv-, Est- und Curlands, Reval, 19 volumes; Asiatic Review, London, 25 volumes; Die Bank, 23 volumes; Beiträge zur Kunde Est-, Liv- und Kurlands, 8 volumes; Biblioteca dell' Archivum Romanicum, 27 volumes; Chemist and Druggist, London, 77 volumes; Corpus Codicum Islandicorum medii aevi, Copenhagen, 4 volumes; Danmarks Folkeminder, Copenhagen, 40 volumes; Dorset Natural History and Archæological Society Proceedings, 53 volumes; Egypt Exploration Society, Theban tomb series, 5 volumes; Essex Institute Abstracts of English Shipping Records; Netherlands, Dept. van financiën Statistiek v. d. Handel en de Scheepvaart, 42 volumes; the Transactions of the Optical Society, London, 33 volumes; Samlaren, Tidskrift för Svensk Litteratur-historisk Forskning, 50 volumes; the Publications of the Scottish Record Society, Edinburgh, 35 volumes; the Zeitschrift für den physikalischen und chemischen Unterricht, 45 volumes; the Zeitschrift für preussische Geschichte und Landeskunde, Berlin, 20 volumes; the Zeitschrift für Völkerpsychologie und Soziologie, 7 volumes.

Additions to incomplete serial sets strengthened the Library's collections in many valuable files, among which were the following: Académie des Sciences, Paris, Mémoires, 15 volumes; Académie Royale des Sciences, des Lettres, et des Beaux Arts, de Belgique, Classe des Beaux Arts, Bulletins, 9 volumes; Archiv für Elektrotechnik, 18 volumes; American Institute of Chemical Engineers, Transactions, 23 volumes; Palæontographica, 12 volumes.

Supervision of exchanges was assumed during the year by the Accessions Division. Stock was assorted, inventoried, and recorded. Classified lists were compiled preparatory to an extension of exchange relations with institutions abroad and in this country. Several new arrangements were initiated which resulted in noteworthy accessions, particularly in exchange with new foreign institutions receiving Yale University Press publications, which, as heretofore, were so generously provided by the Press.

Concentrated attention was given to unsearched gifts on hand, reducing the 30,000 accumulations to a total of 14,500. The checked items were either added to the Library or sent to the duplicate collection. Rare duplicates were segregated, and duplicate exchange relations were established with several libraries in New England. Considerable progress was made in accessioning accumulated back work, and a beginning was made in the Madan-Oxford Collection.

This Division was made responsible for the purchase, plating, and stamping of all books acquired for the new College Libraries. At this date of writing the total number of volumes received by purchase was 5,351; by gift, 2,553 from seventy-five donors. These figures for the College Libraries are not included in the following totals:

| | Purchase | Received by | | Total |
|---------------------------------|----------|-------------|----------|--------|
| | | Gift | Exchange | |
| Books and Periodicals | 24,676 | 23,275 | 10,715 | 58,666 |
| Pamphlets | | 9,718 | 208 | 9,926 |

THE REFERENCE DIVISION

THE report of Miss Pratt, Reference Librarian, records significant increases in services rendered, facilities used, and special projects undertaken. The encouraging increase in the use of the general Reading Room indicates that undergraduates, as well as more advanced students, are discovering the opportunities and facilities which it provides. In this room at the height of the spring reading period there were 1,718 books in use in one day. The reservation of material at assigned seats for individual use increased in popularity among all classes of readers. Many important additions to the collection of reference sets, purchased for the collection or transferred from the stacks, strengthened the service of the Division. These numbered 1,948, making a total of 6,836 reference volumes now on hand. A few losses were reported.

The Periodical Reading Room reported even greater increases in use, reaching a 30 per cent increase in April. Greater interest in current economics and politics and the gradual realization that here is provided appealing opportunity for personal selection of individual reading among the 1,400 titles on file are accountable for this growing service.

The Newspaper Reading Room and stack reports 2,438 readers who consulted an average of 600 volumes per month. In the New Book Alcove 2,700 books were displayed for the usual period, the number being larger this year because of the inclusion of important monograph serials. The Penniman Room, which is now serving as a study reading room for the graduate work of the Department of Education, showed an approximate increase of 50 per cent in use. Aid from the Department in supervising the room is gratefully acknowledged by the Library.

A total of 1,171 stack permits were issued, of which 672 came from the graduate and professional schools. This figure does not include 996 temporary cards issued to special readers. In addition, 207 stall or cubicle permits were issued during the year. According to the observation of the Reference Librarian there is a decreasing use of the stacks by visiting scholars; an increasing demand by undergraduates recommended for independent work by their professors; a decreasing demand by graduate students, due largely to the five o'clock closing hour of the stack.

The full time of one assistant is now required to handle the correspondence and reference service connected with inter-library loans. This work increased during the year in number of books borrowed and lent. A total of 446 requests for 819 books were sent to 93 libraries, from which 637 volumes were received. Yale received 808 requests for 1,436 books from 183 libraries and lent 1,063 volumes.

Photostat and film orders amounted to 416. These orders resulted in the production of 3,282 sheets, 72 negative films for 2,013 openings, and 189 prints. However, these figures do not include approximately 9,000 film exposures of a special collection of letters and documents made for the use of a group of American historians having in hand a specific, creative project.

Among the many unusual projects carried on by the Reference Division, largely during odd moments between the requests made by readers, the following are of general interest: continuation of faculty bibliographies, complete bibliographies of material published by deceased professors of Yale, checking and revision of certain portions of the catalogue, final work in the calendaring of the Lounsbury Papers, check list of the Betts autograph and manuscript collection, orderly arrangement of the Library's large file of auction and secondhand book catalogues, check list of New Haven and Connecticut imprints, and shelf list and card revision of the Library of 1742.

The Reference Librarian calls attention to the need for additional telephones, greater duplication of books most used (especially those in the Linonia and Brothers Library), special room for film projection, greater use of reproductions instead of original rare materials, special space for the use of government publications, closer supervision of entrances to and from the stacks, and a union card catalogue of all book resources in the University.

EXHIBITIONS

THE exhibitions this year have been as important as, and more numerous than, in recent years. They attracted a good deal of attention in the city and state, as well as serving the University itself. Doubtless many of the 433,000 who visited the Library during the year came to see them. The local newspapers, as well as those in New York and elsewhere, gave generous space to special articles describing the exhibits, articles written usually by members of the library staff.

There were six loan exhibitions during the year, as follows:

Mr. Stuart W. Jackson, B.A. 1898, lent a selection of his remarkable collection on General Lafayette. This exhibition lasted from September 1 to October 13, 1932.

The documents relating to the Presidents of Haiti, which were deposited in the Library by Mr. Howard C. Norton, Ph.B. 1917, were exhibited from November 1 to 13.

The Brady Missal on exhibition from November 14 to December 4 was commissioned by James Cox Brady, B.A. 1904, but was left unfinished at the time of his death. It was lent by his widow, Mrs. C. Suydam Cutting, who kindly allowed us to take it apart for exhibition. The labels were written by Father Riggs, and the technical description by Professor Daniel V. Thompson.

Through the courtesy of Professor Baker of the Department of Drama we were able to place on exhibition a collection of memorabilia of Richard Mansfield, lent by Mrs. Mansfield. The exhibition was held from February 10 to 21.

Mr. Philip Hofer, of the New York Public Library, lent his notable collection of illustrated books of the sixteenth century from February 1 to April 11, and gave an interesting talk about them.

Examples of the printing done by Mr. Carl Purington Rollins at Montague and at New Haven, arranged by Mr. Rollins, were exhibited from March 14 to April 16. A descriptive article, written by Henry Lewis Johnson of Boston, will appear in the Library Gazette for July.

Exhibitions were arranged for anniversaries, or for other special occasions, such as meetings of learned societies.

A number were held at the time of the meeting of the Modern Language Association in New Haven. A selection of the rarer works from the Riant Collection was arranged by Professor Benson and Miss Monrad. The earlier volumes of Italian literature from the Vaganay Collection were arranged and described by Mr. di Sorbello. Professor Garver prepared an exhibition illustrating French Romanticism. The most important exhibition was that prepared by Professor Schreiber from the Speck Collection, in honor of the Goethe centenary. The Scandinavian, Italian, and French exhibitions were continued from December 26 to February 10, the Goethe exhibition until February 21.

To commemorate the 150th anniversary of Bishop Seabury's consecration as the first Bishop of the Episcopal Church in America, an exhibition was held from February 22 to April 16.

In honor of the 200th anniversary of the birth of Joseph Priestley an exhibition illustrating his life and work was held from February 22 to April 16. For this exhibition we had the invaluable criticism of Dr. John F. Fulton. Mrs. Helen Pond lent several photographs and documents which added greatly to the interest of the exhibition.

In honor of the 200th anniversary of the gift of 1,000 volumes by George Berkeley, Bishop of Cloyne, to the Yale Library, an exhibition was held in the Yale room from February 22, continuing through Commencement. This exhibition contained all the original documents in the Library relating to Bishop Berkeley and his gifts, and a selection from the books he gave.

In honor of the ninety-first anniversary of the birth of the Reverend Dr. Alexander Kohut, Mr. Nemoy prepared an exhibition of Judaica and Hebraica. A special catalogue of the books displayed was printed. A number of volumes and manuscripts were lent by George Alexander Kohut and the Jewish Theological Seminary, and the Department of Classics lent photographs of the recent excavations at Dura. Professor Alexander Marks delivered an address on the occasion.

At Commencement, in honor of the late Mr. Edward Bement, B.A. 1870, a selection from his recent bequest to the Library was exhibited, and with it the Hamilton Cole Collection of the Philobiblon received from Mr. Bement as long ago as 1894. In April a small exhibition of historical prints relating to Yale College and New Haven, selected largely from the Stokes Collection in the Library, was placed on display. This exhibition was enlarged by loans from Mr. Francis P. Garvan, Mr. Francis P. Garvan, Jr., Mr. Edwin Oviatt, Miss Maria T. Dana, Mr. Arnold G. Dana, Mr. C. R. Harte, Mr. John Green, and the Yale Gallery of Fine Arts, and continued through Commencement. In honor of the fiftieth and twenty-fifth reunions of the classes of 1883 and 1908, and 1883 S. and 1908 S., all available printed works of the members of these classes were exhibited in the Reserve Book Room. Through the efforts of Mr. Arnold G. Dana the members of the Class of 1883 lent and gave generously copies of their works not already represented in the Library.

Other exhibitions included the works of Chaucer and Malory, Pepys, John Locke, Johnson's Rasselas, Marcel Proust, Louisa May Alcott, Brahms (arranged by the School of Music); books printed by Caxton and Wynkyn de Worde; English Bibles to 1611; early editions of the Book of Common Prayer; the Ezra Stiles papers given by Mrs. Edward S. Harkness; a selection from the Dillaye-Vann collections of coins presented in 1931; books published during the Oxford Movement. The Oxford exhibition was opened with an address by Professor W. M. Urban; the books are to be shown at the American Centenary of the Oxford Movement to be held in Philadelphia in October.

THE CIRCULATION DIVISION AND RESERVE BOOK ROOM

MR. KENEFICK reports a total of 172,000 volumes issued from the desk, of which 88,976 were lent for home study, 46,225 for reserve use in stalls and studies, and 36,799 on temporary charges within the building. The total represents a 10 per cent increase over the preceding year. No attempt was made to record the hundreds of books used temporarily each day by faculty members and students who had access to the stacks. Much of the satisfying increase was due to the spring reading period when service facilities and personnel at the Desk were taxed to the utmost. Approximately 50 per cent of the books requested by undergraduates during this period were either on reserve or were otherwise in use. More help will be necessary next year at this period, and the departments of instruction will be obliged to prepare longer lists of reading assignments if funds are not forthcoming to provide additional copies of books in great demand.

The problem of tracing misplaced books and those which are temporarily in use but unrecorded is both constant and troublesome. Unwearied search and a systematic study of the difficulties are necessary. The latter revealed in one period that approximately 50 per cent of the material requested was on the shelf and available within twenty-four hours. The Desk continued its former practice of time-stamping each call slip in order to speed up the service and to determine the time required on book deliveries, which continues to vary from five to seven minutes, dependent upon floor location and the number of calls upon a given floor. New books, as well as others in great demand, have been issued for a limited period of one week, returning to the usual three-week period when the demand ceases. This plan has met with the general coöperation and approval of readers. Due to the use of date issue labels in books circulated, the collection of fines has been facilitated and books have been returned with greater promptness.

The staff of the Division again expressed its appreciation of the helpful response by faculty members in promptly checking their lists of books on loan. Special newspaper stack cards were issued to more than 900 readers whose requests doubled those of the previous year. Guide service to visitors was freely offered as heretofore. By purchase, 565 volumes were added to the Andrews Memorial Library and over 1,200 were received as gifts as a result of the annual appeal in the Yale Daily News. One faculty member gave 185 volumes. The use of this collection grows each year; during the year just ended the Library lent 4,600 books to 563 students.

In the Reserve Book Room, services maintained their previous rate of increase. The staff set up 143 separate collections, using 9,699 library books, 2,611 departmental books, and 340 personally owned copies, making a total of 11,216 volumes placed on reserve. The privilege of borrowing reserve books overnight on a special card was successfully continued; 954 cards were issued and 4,608 books lent without loss of a single copy. However, losses from the open shelves increased at such a rate that drastic steps had to be taken, and the following notice was displayed in the room and published in the daily press: "Students are notified that the removal of books from this Room without proper record constitutes ground for immediate dismissal from the University." Good results were obtained, and the administration is hopeful that a new attitude will develop within the student body which will check recent increasing tendencies towards indifference and violation of simple, helpful regulations.

THE CATALOGUE DIVISION

A STEADY rate of increasing card production is reported by Miss Monrad, Head Cataloguer. Several experiments with new methods and procedures were continued with satisfying and effective results. Further speed in production and in the simplification of processes will be sought throughout the coming year. The making of new classification schedules and the clearance of accumulated, untreated material naturally delay the work of obtaining the highest possible rate of production consistent with the degree of scholarly practice to which the University is accustomed.

Classification schedules were finally adopted for use with the Yale Collection of American Literature, to which 846 volumes were added during the year. A total of 727 items were added to the Library of the American Oriental Society, and attention was given to the pressing binding needs of the Society's collection. Special efforts were concentrated on the transfer from the stacks of 600 books to the Rare Book Room, and of 1,800 volumes to the Reading Room. It was necessary both to reclassify and recatalogue most of these titles. A total of 577 volumes and 306 pamphlets were classified and catalogued for the Tacitus Collection, recently presented by Dean Mendell. Although the Madan-Oxford Collection was partly accessioned during the year, only a beginning was made in its classification. Only slight progress was made in the reorganization work necessary on the Library's holdings in Theology, due largely to the universal difficulty of assigning subject headings and determining logical entries in this field. Special effort was concentrated on the clearance of uncatalogued accumulations of current work resulting from the time-consuming activities of moving and inventory. As one illustration of the results obtained, Miss Strout reports that 3,500 of these arrears in modern literature were processed to the regular shelves.

Plans materialized for the uniform classification and cataloguing of all books to be added to the libraries in the new Colleges. A simple revision of the Linonia and Brothers Library classification schedule was adopted. The plans included a union author catalogue and a union shelf list at the main Library and an author catalogue for each College. This work, under the supervision of Miss Bolton, is progressing satisfactorily, and there is assurance that the seven separate collections will be installed before the opening of the 1933 fall term.

The serial catalogue department maintained its previous records in work accomplished, and undertook several projects and changes in routine intended to reduce the elements of time and labor and improve either directly or indirectly the service of the Library to its readers. New methods of handling state publications, assorting miscellaneous receipts, and analyzing monograph series, through the aid of cards printed for the American Library Association Coöperative Cataloguing Committee, resulted in new and highly desirable activities. Miss Fuller's report records a total of 41,475 volumes and minor publications catalogued on 42,774 cards.

Under the direction of Miss Patton, final orders were placed for printed guides in the public catalogue, which, when filed by the fall of this year, will provide readers with an adequately guided catalogue, save for necessary maintenance and current additions. Current accessions for the Speck Collection of Goetheana have been catalogued for inclusion in the printed catalogue of that collection which is to be published in the near future. The special mimeograph constructed for the rapid production of typed cards has been in operation for a year, producing a total of 88,543 cards for 12,010 titles, being brought into service whenever four or more cards of one title are required. Mrs. Livingston has not only supervised this new development but has served as editor of the copy for cards desired by the Library of Congress for printing and for its union catalogue.

The total number of cards added to the various catalogues is decidedly the largest in the history of the Library. This figure of 251,437 included 153,877 which were printed, 88,543 mimeographed. Of these more than 166,000 represented nearly 40,000 monographs.

LINONIA AND BROTHERS LIBRARY

FRIENDS of the Library have noted with particular satisfaction the manifest growing popularity among undergraduates of the reading facilities in Linonia and Brothers Library. This room has seemingly become a common meeting ground for book lovers. To the affection which this collection has always gained from the older students may now be added the attraction and appeal of its new surroundings, making a combination which the new and welcome College Libraries may not entirely displace. These smaller, but more conveniently located, new collections may partly affect the total use of Linonia and Brothers, but they cannot duplicate or replace all that the parent institution means to the average college student. During the past year 1,195 titles have been added. The number of readers has increased about 16 per cent, making use of 25,767 borrowed volumes. In March, 1933, a second literary contest was conducted in the Yale Daily News by Mr. Hunt, developing renewed interest and other desirable results. In November a new interpretation of the rules led to their application with equal justice to students and faculty members on matters of fines and period of loan. The librarian was authorized to make additional loans to individuals in cases of need until the time arrives when most of the titles in Linonia and Brothers are duplicated in the general collection.

THE GOETHE COLLECTION

PROFESSOR SCHREIBER reports: During the past year, the Goethe Centenary, the major emphasis was placed on collecting the commemorative literature. In this field more than a hundred items were added, many through purchase, still more as gifts. The Carl Schurz Memorial Foundation assembled the centenary programs from all over the United States, and presented them as a group to the Collection. It may safely be said that through this collection a more comprehensive survey of American tributes to Goethe may be had than from any other source.

But rare and important items were also added. Among the finest of the recent accessions are: Das Journal des Luxus und der Moden, with all supplements present, published in Weimar 1786-1806; The History of Doctor John Faustus Compiled in Verse very pleasant and delightful [1562], probably a first edition; the manuscript signed by Coleridge of his translation of Kennst du das Land, and the German Erato, 1798, the first printed collection of English translations of Goethe lyrics, both the gift of Professor William Lyon Phelps; the two-volume set of Wilhelm Meisters Lebrjahre with Carlyle's inscription in each volume: "From this copy the English Translation was made. T.C."

For the members of the Modern Language Association who met at Yale, December, 1932, a comprehensive exhibition of rare and interesting Goetheana was arranged. During the week more than eight hundred guests visited the exhibition.

From Mr. Nat Smolin, American artist residing in Paris, the Library acquired the Etruscan Goethe stele entitled: Goethe Geist.

At the very close of 1932 the Library issued the handsome Centenary Portfolio of Goetheana, containing forty-three reproductions of unique and rare items from the William A. Speck Collection, with an introduction and notes by the Curator.

THE RARE BOOK ROOM

PROFESSOR TINKER reports: The aims of the Rare Book Room were set forth in the Librarian's Report for 1931-32. The accessions for the current year amount to 928 volumes. In addition to these, some 600 volumes have been transferred from the stacks. The Library collection of manuscripts, preserved in the vault, has been put in some order, and 850 new items have been listed. Two hundred sixty four volumes have been bound, repaired, "rebaked," or placed in protective cases.

With respect to the use made of the Room, I have to report the issue of 10,470 volumes as contrasted with 9,505 last year—an average of 34 volumes a day, as contrasted with 29 last year. Books have been sent to Professor Allison and Mr. Rollins for use in classrooms, and two shelves of "reserved books" have been kept for Professor Silk and Mr. Faison.

The Library Associates have displayed great interest in the Rare Book Room, as formerly. They have contributed, in eleven months, approximately $3,700 for the purchase of rare books and manuscripts. Details of these purchases are given in the annual report to them. A constant flow of books presented by them and by other friends of the Library has marked our progress during the year.

THE YALE COLLECTION OF AMERICAN LITERATURE

MR. TROXELL reports: During the past year 345 volumes have been added to the Yale Collection of American Literature. For the most part these have been received as gifts from various donors. The work of cataloguing the entire collection has been commenced, and to date 834 volumes have been done.

THE NUMISMATIC COLLECTION

THE REVEREND MR. OWEN, Associate Curator in charge of mediæval and modern coins, reports: During the past year no large gifts of coins have been made to the University Collection, but we have been recipients of a considerable number of pieces, all of interest and worth, which have been acknowledged, in every way fully recorded, and put in their proper places. We are now primarily engaged in our major task of merging into one great Yale University Collection the numismatic collections which the University possessed prior to the opening of the Sterling Memorial Library in 1931, with the several collections and individual pieces which we have received since that date. Progress has been made, perhaps all possible under the conditions. Our collections of Venetian and Spanish coins are now, both of them, fully merged. In the former there are about 750 pieces, and in the latter about 1,400 pieces. Our collections of the Colonial silver pieces of Massachusetts, the so-called pine, oak, and willow tree monies, have also been merged. They form a group of quite unusual examples of these most interesting coins, so rich in historic suggestion. Of our silver pieces of the United States we have begun the merger, but so far we have been able to merge completely only the silver dollars. Our series of these silver dollars is far from being complete, but we are so fortunate as to possess unusually fine examples of the rare dates of 1794, 1839, and 1858, the first date mentioned being that of the first issue of our silver dollars, and 1858 being extremely difficult to obtain, as it is believed that only sixty silver dollars were minted that year. We have discovered in the Dillaye-Vann Collection, received in 1931, a set of Trade Dollars, complete so far as dates are concerned. All but one of these pieces are in brilliant proof condition and they represent quite an unusual possession. We plan next year to carry to completion the merger of all our United States coins, silver, copper, base metal, and bronze.

We would again express our appreciation of the time and thought given to the study and description of our collection of the coppers of Connecticut by the Reverend Clair F. Luther, B.D. 1892, who, this year as last, has for these purposes made several visits to the Library. And we would mention with gratitude the active interest shown in our splendid collection of the coppers of Massachusetts, the so-called "Indian Cents," by Mr. A. J. Clark, of New Haven. While it is now possible for us to show, in private, almost on demand, any of our pieces or series desired, yet it is greatly to be regretted that our present conditions, which seem likely to be unchangeable for some time to come, make it entirely impossible for us to arrange for more than occasional public numismatic exhibitions, or to use our collections in the largest way, for purposes of illustration, instruction, and study by our University classes. This is greatly to be deplored, when numismatic interest is increasing in our University and also among our alumni and friends, as is evidenced by the growing number of students and other persons who either write or present themselves at the Library seeking numismatic information, or who come quite unannounced and ask to "see the coins." To see the coins of a period, remotely past or approximate to this present, is often to make those times and the persons of those days live and move and have their being right before our eyes.

THE COLLEGE LIBRARIES

MUCH time and thought have been given during the year to the libraries of those Colleges that are to open in September, 1933. The amount of money available at this time is not large, but policies and procedures have been discussed and determined, and several thousands of books ordered so as to be available in the fall. A large part of the March meeting of the Library Committee was devoted to the questions involved in the relation of the College libraries to each other, to the central Reserve Book Room, and to the Linonia and Brothers Library. The matter was further discussed at a meeting of the Council of Masters in April, at which the President and the Comptroller were also present. To serve as liaison officer the Corporation appointed Mr. Hunt, Librarian of Linonia and Brothers, as Supervisor of College Libraries.

SCHOOL AND DEPARTMENTAL LIBRARIES

THE table of statistics printed on another page shows that there are now about half a million volumes in the school and departmental libraries, in addition to the central collection in Sterling Memorial Library.

Noteworthy events during the year are the transfer of the several libraries of the Divinity School to the new Sterling Divinity Quadrangle and the formation of a Library of the Divinity School under a single head; the establishment of a Transportation Library in Strathcona Hall; and the gift to the Department of Drama of Professor Baker's personal collection of about two thousand volumes pertaining to the theatre.

THE STAFF

ON the first of May his colleagues on the staff and his friends throughout the University were saddened by the sudden death by automobile accident of Mr. Ridgely Hunt, Ph.B. 1914, who had been Librarian of Linonia and Brothers since May 15, 1931, and supervisor of College Libraries since April last. A short biographical sketch of Mr. Hunt appears in the Library Gazette for July, 1933.

Mr. Thomas R. Barnum, B.A. 1879, Curator of the Yale Collection for many years, retired on June 30, after a lifetime of service to the University.

Other resignations included Mr. John G. Barrow, Miss Cecil Bull, Miss Margaret Eustace, Mr. Charles Beecher Hogan, Mrs. Lorine S. Stein, Miss Beatrice Warner, and Mrs. Constance Work.

Mr. Lemuel A. Welles, B.A. 1893, was appointed Honorary Curator of Yale Memorabilia. Mr. R. Malcolm Sills, B.S. Wesleyan 1913, B.S. School of Library Service, Columbia University, 1932, joined the staff of the Accessions Division; Mr. Winfield Shiras, B.A. 1923, came as assistant in the Map Collection; and Mr. Raymond P. Morris, B.A. Baker University 1926, B.D. Garrett Biblical Institute 1929, B.S. School of Library Service, Columbia University, 1931, became Assistant Librarian of the reorganized Library of the Divinity School. Promotions to the appointed list include the following members of the staff: Miss Ruth Brown, B.A. Connecticut College 1930, assistant cataloguer; Miss Jeanne M. Goddard, B.A. in Library Science, University of Michigan, 1929, assistant in the Reserve Book Room; and Miss Henrietta T. Hall, B.A. Vassar College 1932, assistant cataloguer.

Miss Miriam B. Nagle had leave of absence for the year to study in the School of Library Service at Columbia, and obtained her degree.

Miss Grace P. Fuller was elected chairman of the New York Regional Catalogue Group. Mr. Cannon continues as chairman of the Book-buying Committee of the American Library Association, and Mr. Rush as member of the Connecticut Public Library Committee.

This report must not appear without an expression of appreciation to Professor Lipari for his generosity in conducting a class in Italian during the year for members of the library staff.

RESEARCH ASSOCIATES

FOR some years there have been at Yale investigators of professorial rank bearing the title of Research Associates. Their main duty is to carry on investigations, but in some cases they may be asked to direct the research work of graduate students, to conduct seminars, or to give courses of lectures. They are often connected with laboratories or clinics. Occasionally one finds a man whose interests cut across many departments of study, who is dependent almost entirely on library material, and whose researches might develop the Library's collections and their best use. Such a man is Wilmarth S. Lewis, B.A. 1918, and it is with pleasure that we welcome him as the first Research Associate in the Library. His special field of study is Horace Walpole and his times.

THE LIBRARY COMMITTEE

EIGHT meetings of the Library Committee were held during the year, with a practically complete attendance at each. The experiment of serving luncheon at the meetings was tried throughout the year, and proved so acceptable that it is to be the practice hereafter. Professors Feuillerat, Sizer, and Young were appointed to succeed themselves for terms expiring June 30, 1936, and Professor Ore was appointed for the same period to succeed Professor Page. The services rendered to the Library by the Committee are highly valued by the Librarian and by all who know the interest shown by its members in the policies and efficient working of the institution.

THE LIBRARY ASSOCIATES

At the annual dinner meeting of the Trustees of the Library Associates, held in New York on February 27, Mr. Frank Altschul, B.A. 1908, resigned the chairmanship he had held since the formation of the group. During these nine years he has been the guiding spirit of the organization, and the Trustees accepted his resignation with the greatest regret. It is a pleasure to state that he remains as a Trustee. In his place Mr. Wilmarth S. Lewis, B.A. 1918, was elected chairman, and Mr. James T. Babb, B.A. 1925, succeeded him as secretary. Mr. Starling W. Childs, B.A. 1891, was reelected vice-chairman, and Mr. Thomas W. Farnam, B.A. 1899, was reelected treasurer. The following trustees were elected for the three-year term ending February, 1936: Alfred L. Aiken, B.A. 1891, James T. Babb, B.A. 1925, Starling W. Childs, B.A. 1891, Harvey Cushing, B.A. 1891, Leonard C. Hanna, Jr., 1913, Stuart W. Jackson, B.A. 1898, and Henry C. Taylor, B.A. 1917; and Douglas M. Moffat, B.A. 1903, and Thomas E. Marston, B.A. 1927, were elected to fill the terms of Gordon Auchincloss, B.A. 1908, and Charles H. Hamill, B.A. 1890, resigned.

On the afternoon of June 3 the first annual meeting of the Associates was held in the Rare Book Room. Addresses were made by Mr. Lewis and President Angell, followed by an address on the significance of the work attempted by such bodies by Mr. Franklin Parker, Jr.

At the request of officers of the Yale Club of New York, and with the approval of the Trustees of the Library Associates and of the Yale Corporation, a selection from gifts to the Library by the Associates was shown in the Club during the latter part of the academic year. Mr. Stuart W. Jackson, B.A. 1898, kindly insured the exhibits while at the Club and in transit.

A new movement among undergraduates interested in the Library was aided by a dinner at Mory's on May 17, at which more than thirty undergraduates were present. Mr. Lewis and Mr. Childs were the hosts.

The Library Gazette for October, 1932, was given up entirely to the Library Associates, and contained articles on the history of the organization and its service to the University. A copy of this special issue will be sent to any graduate of Yale on application to the Librarian.

AMERICAN ORIENTAL SOCIETY LIBRARY.

In June, 1853, by an agreement with the American Oriental Society, its library, formerly in Boston, was placed on deposit in the University Library. In October, 1924, the library, now consisting of over 5,000 volumes, was placed on permanent deposit. The Society appoints a librarian for the collection, which is kept as a separate unit in the University Library building. The books are available to members of the Society and to others with the approval of the librarian.
